

To run unit test first have python installed, pytinker, then you can run it through the terminal.

In the unit test it provides the username and password for the correct and incorrect.